

Fr. Fintan Gavin Newly Ordained Bishop of Cork

Fintan Gavin was born in Dublin in 1966 and baptised in St. Andrews Parish, Westland Row. His family roots are in Marino, St. Vincent de Paul Parish.

Fintan was ordained to serve as a priest of the Archdiocese of Dublin by Bishop Eamon Walsh on 7th June 1991.

His first appointments were as Teacher/Chaplain at schools in Bray and Tallaght.

In 1996 he undertook post-graduate studies in Rome. In 2003 he was awarded a Doctorate in Canon Law from the Pontifical Gregorian University, Rome.

In 2003 Fintan was appointed Vice-Chancellor of the Archdiocese of Dublin and was appointed Chancellor in 2017.

Fr. Paul Coyle joined Fintan as Assistant to the Chancellor while also serving his time here as Co-PP. Fintan remained Chancellor up to the time of his appointment to the Diocese of Cork and Ross.

I ask you all to keep Bishop Fintan in your prayers as he starts his new role serving God and the people of Cork and Ross.

A very big thank you to all parishioners who completed the Consultative Questionnaire at mass or at home. If you still have one at home it is not too late to return it to the parish office. The questionnaires are still available from the parish office if you didn't get the opportunity to fill one in and would like to do so.

From The Parish Pastoral Council

What Is A Live Church

A live church has parking problems;

A dying church does not.

A live church has lots of noisy children around;

A dying church enjoys peace and quiet

A live church often changes the way things are done to do things better.

A dying church does not need to change a thing.

A live church dreams greater dreams for God's kingdom;

A dying church has nightmares.

A live church invites people to risk involvement and new ideas;

A dying church plays it safe and never risks anything.

A live church supports world missions;

A dying church says 'Charity begins at home'.

A live church uses its traditions and buildings to serve God and people;

A dying church uses people to serve its traditions and buildings.

A live church worships;

A dying church worries.

A live church is filled with 'tithers';

A dying church is filled with tippers.

A live church forgives and seeks forgiveness;

A dying church never makes mistakes.

A live church looks for challenges and opportunities;

A dying church looks out for problems and danger.

A live church evangelises;

A dying church fossilises.
