

Parish of Saint Columbanus, Loughlinstown

Corpus Christi

Dear Lord Jesus, On this sacred Corpus Christi day, we gather in Your presence with hearts open wide.
In the humble bread and wine, You offer us yourself
Body, Blood, Soul, and Divinity.
Grant us the grace to deepen our faith
in this profound mystery of the Eucharist.
Strengthen our belief in Your real presence, that we may receive You with unwavering trust and boundless love.
We thank You, dear Jesus,
for the immeasurable gift of Yourself.
Amen.

Ordination of Father Donal Roche as Auxiliary Bishop of Dublin
And Welcoming of Bishop Paul Dempsey as Auxiliary Bishop in Dublin - Trinity Sunday

Extract From The Homily of Archbishop Farrell:

Only the heart can grasp the Trinity. Mysteries are not understood; mysteries are experienced.
Who ‘understands’ love? Is love not known through experience? And death... let us not fool ourselves: we do not understand death, but we know death when we experience it, ... and hope, and joy.
All these vital dimensions of our life, are mysteries of the heart, and can only be grasped by the human heart.

Rabbi Sharon Brous draws on her Jewish tradition to name the dignity of every human being.

A Rabbinic text ... from the ninth century declares that every person is accompanied, at all times, by a procession of angels crying out, “Make way, for an image of the Holy One is approaching!” Every person, like royalty! And yet, again and again, the image of the Holy One is controlled and contained, humiliated and degraded, incarcerated and incapacitated, shot and killed before our very eyes. How do we keep missing all those angels, with their trumpets and proclamations, desperate to rouse us to the dignity of every human being? What would it mean to build a society in which every person is treated as an image of the Divine? How would this affect our relationships with our neighbours, our co-workers, the stranger lying beneath the stained blankets and trash outside Starbucks? Wouldn’t it compel us to recast the cultures of our schools, organisations, and faith communities? How would it impact health care, education, public policy, justice systems?

What would it mean to build a society in which every person is treated as an image of the Divine?
